SAFEGUARDING PROCEDURES- INFORMATION FOR PARENTS

All people working with children have a duty of care to safeguard children and promote their welfare.

THIS MEANS THAT STAFF MUST REPORT, TO THE DESIGNATED PERSON IN SCHOOL, ANY CONCERNS WHICH MAY INCLUDE:

- any injuries or marks that cannot be explained
- unusual behaviour
- physical punishment that is not reasonable or not appropriate (this includes anything to the face or head or using any object or implement)
- worrying things said by or about the child

Safeguarding referrals are made to Southwark Multi Agency Safeguarding Hub (MASH) via a Referral Form and copied to the LA's Schools Safeguarding Coordinator. Prior to any written form being sent as a referral to social care, there should be a verbal consultation with the MASH social worker or manager, by calling the duty desk.

WILL PARENTS BE INFORMED BEFORE CHILDREN'S SOCIAL CARE SERVICES ARE CONTACTED?

Where possible, staff will contact parents, however there may be occasions where we are advised not to by Children's Social Care Services. This is usually if they think this may cause more harm for the child or put them in danger.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER A REFERRAL IS MADE?

Children's Social Care Services will find out more information from the family, the child and other services. Referrals can sometimes be upsetting for parents and carers, but please remember that if a child is referred to Social Services, staff are not accusing anyone. Referrals will often be false alarms, but staff must put the needs of children and young people first and not take any risks with the safety or welfare of young children, even if this means upsetting parents or carers.
Referrals to services regarding concerns about a child or family typically fall into three categories:
Early Help Services; Child in need - Section 17 (Children Act 1989) referrals; Child protection - Section 47 (Children Act 1989) referrals.

SCREEN TIME

Over the past 5 years much evidence has emerged about the negative consequences of screen time, smartphones and social media across society, but in particular for children. The impact of these technologies are particularly felt during the key developmental stages and have proven to have significantly negative consequences for many young people.

The government has now published its first official guidance on screen time for children under five. This guidance is available on the on the Best Start in Life website, with key tips including:
Under 2s: Avoiding screen time other than for shared activities that encourage bonding, interaction and conversation.
2 to 5-year-olds: Trying to keep it to no more than one hour a day. Avoid at mealtimes and in the hour before bed.
Content: Choosing slow-paced, age-appropriate content. Fast-paced, social media-style videos and AI toys or tools should be avoided for young children.
Co-viewing: Watching or using screens together - talking, asking questions and engaging with the content - is better for children's development than solo screen use.
Sharing books and playing with your children are excellent alternatives to screen time. We also signpost play sessions at children's centres and a range of other family activities in the local area - these are shared weekly in our school newsletter.

The ban on social media and smartphone use for children under 16 is intended to protect young people's mental health, reduce cyberbullying, and limit excessive screen time. Restricting access can help children focus on school, improve sleep, and encourage more face-to-face interaction.
